NEWS AND COMMENT.

LITTLETON Female College offers to any young lady who will write the best essay on Christian Education free tuition in English one year. A good idea, this; for it encourages education both ways.

SENATOR ALLISON has been "born again." The "handwriting on the wall" is so plain that "he who runs may read." The result is, Mr. ALLISON thinks two story and attic tariffs are fast going out of fashion, and that Mr. MCKINLEY is "behind the times." His philosophy was emphasized by the Iowa election last November, when tariff reform was a leading factor in electing a Democratic Governor, and in almost electing a legislature after the same pattern. Next!

"THE same amount of pluck, tact, economy and 'go' in North Carolina will produce as good results as in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas or Mississippi." There is not the slightest doubt about that. The great difficulty is that too many North Carolinians wait to exile themselves before they become inspired with energy and enterprise. If they would bestow upon the home farm, business or profession the vigor of thought and action which they devote to the pursuit of fortune in new fields there would be fewer languishing towns and deserted homesteads in this State.

PUBLIC sentiment is fast crystalizing in favor of separating the school fund of the different States, giving the colored people only what they contribute in taxes and the whites the same, thereby allowing each race to educate its own children. The persistency with which the colored people have blindly followed the teachings of the Republican party, antagonizing, year after year, the political and material interests of those who confribute most largely to their education and advancement, has suggested the propriety of such a step, and should the time ever come the colored man can hold himself alone responsible.

IT is not saying much for the "finest police force in the world" that, in the most frequented parts of the city of New York, footpads and highwaymen can with impunity maltreat their victims, using the sandbag to beat them into unconsciousness. Two recent instances are noted, occurring at about the same spot in the upper part of the city, and the newspapers state that the "police have a clue"—that is all. Sandbagging is the very barbarism of robbery—ranking with the "Thugs"—and we are reminded of the streets of Paris after nightfall in the time of Louis XI. The truth is, New York is not a well-policed and well-governed city—inferior to either Boston or Philadelphia in this respect.

WE hail the Raleigh News and Observer in its new dress with a warm greeting, and heartily congratulate Brother ASHE upon the bright and flourishing appearance of that staunch old Democratic journal. The News and Observer is now about twenty odd years old, and has always been first and foremost in the thickest of the fight for the supremacy of the Democratic party, State and national. Its editorial department is presided over by a refined, scholarly gentleman, a safe leader, whose political wisdom has been demonstrated more than once. The Observer deserves well at the hands of the people of North Carolina, and its latest indication of prosperity is a source of pride to its many warm friends all over the country.

DURHAM is "putting her best foot foremost" to secure the removal of Trinity College to that wide-awake and enterprising town. And why not? It is true, inducements have been held out in Raleigh for its location at the capital, but should the inducements held out by Durham exceed those of the "City of Oaks" we are unable to detect any violation of good faith on the part of Dr. Crowell and the Trustees in making the change from the latter to the former. Possibly the best friend Trinity College has ever had since the halcyon days of Baxter Craven resides in Durham—the first man to put his hand down in his pocket to the depth of ten thousand dollars for the endowment fund. Everybody knows to whom we refer. Raleigh possesses advantages, however, that Durham could never possess.

A delegate from the State of Washington, in attendance upon the Republican Leagues in Nashville a few days ago, moved the adoption of the following: "We demand that our representatives in Congress redeem every pledge made to the people at Chicago in 1888 by repealing the internal revenue laws, by revising the tariff, by passing the Blair educational bill, and completely restoring silver to the currency of the country, and the liberal pensioning of every Federal soldier." Why not make a long matter short, and openly declare that the Republican party has proven itself unfaithful to every trust, false to every pledge—excepting the latter—bought and seated a President under false pretenses, for Congress has been in session three months and more, and where is the bill to abolish internal taxes, bill to revise the tariff, Blair bill, silver bill, &c., &c.?

CRIME IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Summary of Criminal Statistics of the State.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger has prepared the following interesting statistics from the court records of the State for 1889:

It appears from the reports, which are made under the new act for the collection of criminal statistics, that 7,695 cases were tried in 1889. Of these criminals 4,409 were whites, 7 Indians and 3,279 blacks. The races, therefore, held their own in the proportion of crimes, as a reference to population will show. This removes the current opinion that there is most crime among the blacks. More crimes were committed in the west than in the east—certainly more of what may be termed cruel crimes—as these reports will show. Of the 7,695 criminals, 6,846 were males and 849 females. The average of all was a trifle over 80 cases to each county. There were 114 capital cases tried, the division of which was as follows: Murder, 58; rape, 18; arson, 6; burglary, 31. There were 9 convictions of capital offences, divided as follows: Burglary, 2; arson, 1; murder, 5, and rape 1. There were two executions of those convicted during this year. There were, of course, other executions during the year, of persons convicted in 1888, who had appealed or had been respited.

Of larceny, there were 1,222 cases, and of misdemeanor, 6,354. The larceny cases furnish the bulk of the penitentiary population. This crime is most common in the east. In the west assaults are most common. All over the State there were many cases of fornication and adultry. The defendants in very many cases were white men and negro women; and in all the State there were only nine cases in which they were negro men and white women. In one case a negro had married a white woman. Both were tried for fornication and adultery, and were sent to jail, while the marriage was annuled.

Of the Indians tried five were Cherokees and two Croatans. Of all the criminals tried only one was a Jew, and he was acquitted. In Warren county a negro woman, Ritta Alexander, was tried for burglary. So far as your correspondent knows, this is the only case where a woman has been tried for this offence.

The more common crimes other than larceny are assaults, assaults and batteries, assaults with intent to kill, fornication and adultery, retailing liquor without license, carrying concealed weapons, disturbing religious worship, forgery, maiming stock and cruelty to animals and malicious mischief.

Among crimes less frequent were riots, which occurred in three counties—Moore, Wayne and Mitchell; escapes, gambling, secret assaults, removal of landmarks or boundaries, burning buildings not occupied, slander, rescue, and enticing away laborers. The latter was more common in the west than the east.

Among what may be termed the rare crimes are the following: Dynamiting (in Macon and Mitchell); grave robbery (in Buncombe); highway robbery (in Catawba and Cherokee); poisoning (in Cumberland); selling unsound meat (in Haywood); blackmailing (in Jones); waylaying (in Lenoir); burning church (in Lincoln); abduction (in Mecklenburg); "killing chickens" (in Montgomery); libel by editor (in Moore); incest (in Wilkes and Nash); contempt (in Swain); obstructing river (in Transylvania); passing counterfeit money (in Wilkes); "prohibiting" (in Yaney).

Only a few of the clerks reported as to lynchings. Some say there has never been a lynching in their counties. Such reports come from Chowan, Duplin, Graham, Madison, Onslow, Orange, Randolph, Swaim, Wake, Brunswick, Cherokee, Cleveland, Craven, Jones, Lincoln, Stanley, Warren and Yadkin.

A good many cases of "escape" were reported. In one case (in Jackson) the sheriff was tried for "escape," convicted and sentenced to be removed from office.

The average age of criminals is about 30 years. There are a considerable number of young negro criminals, some under 12 years of age.

A curious report is made by the clerk of Orange court: at the spring term, 1889, a man was tried for burglary and acquitted. Later in the year the real criminal committed suicide. The clerk of Randolph says that there has been only one execution in the history of that county. In Brunswick there has been none in twelve years. The clerk of Johnston suggests the restoration of the whipping-post as a punishment for minor offences, while the clerk of Moore says a better execution of the laws is needed. There was a curious sentence in Stokes, where a white woman, for f. and a., was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, and was then to be given ten days in which to leave the State. The clerk of Warren reports that in that county there has been no execution since 1878, and that was the only one in fifty years.

A Venerable Confederate.

Wilmington Review.]

A friend at Burgaw writes us of a privilege he enjoyed yesterday in dining with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Orr, of the Moore's Creek section of Pender county, at a birthday festival. The meal was partaken of in the house erected by Mr. Orr 50 years ago. The old gentleman is now 84 years of age, and is a remarkable man. Old as he is, his sight is yet excellent, and he has never used eye-glasses. He can make four turpentine barrels a day, and can dip and fill two of them in the same length of time, while he can easily walk fifteen miles. He was a gallant Confederate soldier, having enlisted in 1862 in Co. B, 1st Battalion N. C. Artillery, Capt. C. D. Ellis commanding. He was then 56 years of age, and he served throughout the war.

Anxious for his Brother

"Yes, sir—yes, sir—we are being taxed to death in this country!" he shouted, as he stood on the rear platform of a street-car.

"How much taxes do you pay, for instance?" quietly asked one of the group.

"How much? How much do I pay? I—I—well, I'm not talking for myself, but for my brother. His taxes would have been at least $12 a year if he hadn't sold out!"

Wealth and Taxation.

While the total wealth of Great Britain and Ireland is set down at $50,000,000,000, that of the United States is computed at $40,000,000,000. But, while Great Britain pays in taxes $20 per capita of population, the United States pays only $12.50—a great difference, while our wealth is increasing more rapidly than that of the old country.

Two Messengers of Death.

Philadelphia Press.]

William H. Moore, of Philadelphia, has a curious relic of the civil war. It looks something like a nut, and it looks something like a rosette, but it is neither. It is a photograph of two bullets, one a Union bullet and the other a Confederate bullet, welded together. No two foes ever locked arms more tightly than did those bullets from those rifles. One was sent from a Union rifle in Fort Steedman as a messenger of death to a Confederate soldier in Fort Mahone. On its way over it met, point on, with a Confederate bullet, intended for a Union soldier. The two leaden missiles, each one ounce in weight, instead of dealing death in the opposing ranks, flattened themselves against each other and dropped in the dust in front of Petersburg, welded together just as securely as the North and South and East and West are now welded into the Union of States. Along the edges can be seen where the lead of the Confederate ball has lapped over and taken a grip on the Union bullet, and a little further along the lead of the Union bullet has overlapped the Confederate ball, and is firmly imbedded in it. The Union ball apparently had most force back of it, for it has sunk deeper into the Confederate bullet, and has made quite a little depression in it.

Mr. Moore found these bullets in the ravine in front of Petersburg the third day after the evacuation of that city. He showed it to several officers of the Union Army, who regarded it as a great curiosity, and several of them wanted it.

"This is a rare thing," said Mr. Moore, in speaking of the relic. "I know of only two others in this country. One is the property of the Government, and is exhibited at the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and the other is on exhibition in the Libby Prison at Chicago. This is genuine. From my knowledge of metals it was an easy matter for me to distinguish the Union bullet from the Confederate bullet. The Union ball is a softer lead and has a smoother surface. The Confederates had to take whatever they could get to make their bullets, and this one, like all others, is rough and full of sand. The hub-like projections in the centre are the butts of the bullets."

Mr. Moore was asked if he had any idea of the number of bullets fired during the battle of Petersburg. "I can't give anything like exact figures, but I got more than 30,000,000 bullets off that battle-field during the first year after the war closed. I was then purchasing old lead, old iron, brass, and stuff like that, and that is how I came to get these bullets."

True Women.

W. H. Blount in Wilson Mirror.]

History is replete with women who, like Cæsar's wife, are above suspicion. There have been women so Christ-like that they have willingly offered up their lives, rather than their virtue. It excites our admiration, commands our respect and elicits undying praise, when in memory we go back through the ages of the past, and pass one by one those mile stones which mark era after era in the world's history, of the virtues and heroism of praiseworthy women. Philosophy may descant on the science of rectitude, and lay down a formula of human conduct; the moralist may construct a temple of virtue, and people it with vestal virgins of his own ideal, and the essayist may set up a standard of human excellence. But all the philosophy, imaginary creation and ethics ever wrought are as withered leaves, compared with the lustre which encircles that woman who is good from principle rather than desire to be called a heroine, doing good because it is right, although suffering the scorn of the world, and even death the consequence. Such exhibitions of female character can be seen all through the centuries now dead, and they are the lights which have guided many an erring sister from the tottering bridge of ruin to the peaceful heights of happiness and security. No woman need blush for her sex when she sees Portia ascend the judicial bench of Venice to plead the cause of truth; Praxiteles might worship a beautiful form, transfix it to marble or canvas, and art would live anew; but the great artist recognizes perfection only where purity and truth dwell. When the poets sang of female virtue, and attuned their sacred lyres in praise of womanhood, it was not the outgrowth of fickle fancy, or the "baseless fabric of a dream," but the merit of the theme. The bard of Avon, with the pen of inspiration, placed the pure-souled Cordelia on fame's immortal roll; Scotland's noble lyrist wings on strains of music a "Lady of the Lake;" Spencer is the father of the "Fairy Queen;" Longfellow finds amid forest bloom a beautiful Minnehaha; while the kingly Poe, standing upon the higher Andes of intellect, mourns a lost "Leonore." Yet those characters, be they real or imaginary, have their counterpart in the women who have adorned the ages that were, and who now rest in the sacred temple of memory.

About World's Fairs.

The first great international exposition was in 1851, when it was held in the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, a suburb of London. The late Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, was among the most active in making the exhibition a success. Another exposition was held there in 1862, and the Crystal Palace has been made famous for these international fairs.

The last two great expositions that have attracted more exhibitors and visitors from abroad than any previously held were those at Paris in 1878 and 1889. It is stated by the great steam and rail transportation companies that thousands of Americans crossed the Atlantic in 1889 to see the Paris exposition and the Eiffel Tower.

On July 14, 1853, the New York World's Fair was opened in the new Crystal Palace erected by that city. The structure was of glass and iron, in the form of a Greek cross; it was 365 feet in length, with a depth of 150 feet. The exposition was opened by President Pierce, continuing four months, with 3,000 exhibitors. Annual fairs were held in the New York Crystal Palace until 1858, when it was destroyed by fire. New York contemplated a world's fair in 1883, but the project was abandoned.

The man who says to his wife: "Give me the baby, dear, and I will try and put it to sleep," is greater than he who taketh a city.

"Oh, Lord, how you made me jump!" the grasshopper remarked when he was first created.

The Box on the Platform.

At the dinner station where we stopped one day on a certain Tennessee railroad, says a writer in the New York Sun, almost the first sight that greeted the eyes of those who got off was a rough burial box on the platform, and seated near it was an old black woman, with a handkerchief to her eyes. When kindly asked the cause of her sorrow, she pointed to the box, saying:

"De ole man's in dar."

"Your husband?"

"Yes; died two days ago, back yere in de kentry."

"And what are you doing with the body here?"

"I wants to bury it up at Charlestown, but I hain't got money 'nuff to take it on de railroad."

"What nonsense!" exclaimed a man, as he came forward. "What's the difference where a nigger is buried? They want her to bury it here, but she won't. She's determined to take it to Charlestown."

"For what reason?" asked the passenger who had put all the previous questions.

"Kase, sah, all de fo' chill'en is buried up dar, an' his mudder an' sister, an' de po' ole man will be lonesum down yere."

"What bosh!" growled the kicker.

"Look here!" whispered the other, as he went over to him; "I'd rather be a nigger with her soul than be a white man with yours! She's right: let the family dead sleep together."

He entered the express office, paid for the shipment of the body, bought the widow a ticket to Charlestown, and then put a $10 gold piece into her hand, saying:

"Give him a decent funeral, mammy, and this will put up a head-board to mark the grave."

"May de Lawd bless you far——!"

But he hurried in to snatch a bit to eat. While he was gone I made inquiries as to his identity, and finally found a man, who replied:

"Why, that's Colonel Blank, of Alabama. He owned over 300 negroes when the war broke out."

PROF. MOSES, OF RALEIGH, ON THE PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

From a recent number of the Congressional Record we take the following extract from a letter written by Prof. Moses, of Raleigh to a gentleman in Tennessee, and afterwards used by Senator Blair in furthering the passage of his bill, in a speech before the Senate:

* * * By reason of a residence of eight years in North Carolina, I know something of the condition of the schools there. Your school term is a little longer than ours, but we have some compensating advantages, prominent among them, I think, better private schools as a rule. So that, taking all the circumstances into consideration, I am forced to the conclusion that the two States are about on a par educationally speaking, and that the difference between them from this point of view is largely a difference "twixt tweedledum and tweedledee." You have traveled extensively in North Carolina and are well acquainted with schools in Tennessee. You will therefore doubtless agree with me in my position that teachers of public schools in Tennessee and North Carolina, as a general rule, are not only destitute of the slightest suspicion of culture, but to a very large extent ignorant even of a knowledge of the common school branches.

Although they are called teachers, the science and art of education are subjects as mysterious to them as the hieroglyphics of Egypt. You will doubtless agree with me that not only nine-tenths of them never read a book on teaching, but that fully nine-tenths of them do not know what the words method of teaching reading mean, and have never heard of the Grube method in arithmetic. Although the alphabetic method of teaching reading has not had an advocate in Germany for fifty years, and is prohibited by law in Prussia, you will doubtless agree with me that nine-tenths (probably nineteen-twentieths) of the children of Tennessee and North Carolina are to-day taught by that abominable device. * * * Leaving aside all questions of humanity and patriotism, and looking forward to the crowded condition of our section in the near future, we ought to realize that in winking at and encouraging the existence of brutish ignorance among the masses we are "penny-wise and pound-foolish." I believe that it can be said without fear of successful contradiction that there are no States upon the face of the earth in the hands of Protestant people whose schools are more horrible than the schools of Tennessee and North Carolina.

This studied effort on the part of Prof. Moses to belittle, vilify and traduce the school teachers of North Carolina comes with exceeding bad taste, since it is well known and an acknowledged fact that "it is an ill bird that befouls her own nest." In this we do not purpose fighting the battles of the public school teachers in North Carolina, for, "as a general rule," they are abundantly able to take care of themselves, this "great high priest and chief ruler of the synagogue" to the contrary notwithstanding. But to say, and publish to the world, that they are not only "destitute of the slightest suspicion of culture, but to a very large extent ignorant even of a knowledge of the common school branches," is a base libel upon a most worthy class of our people and a gross reflection upon the intelligence of the entire population of the State—an assertion the OBSERVER is unwilling to see made without refutation and denouncing it as false. That some of the public school teachers in this State are not all they should be we do not question for a moment, but to say that a "majority of them are destitute of the slightest suspicion of culture" is an assertion that cannot be substantiated by the truth.

In the first place, no person is allowed to teach a public school without having received a first, second or third grade certificate from the County Superintendent of Education, who is—nine times out of ten to say the least of it—a gentleman of more or less culture.

Again he says: "It can be said without fear of successful contradiction that there are no States upon the face of the earth, in the hands of Protestant people, whose schools are more horrible than the schools of Tennessee and North Carolina." As for the State of Tennessee we cannot speak, because the "Professor" himself is a Tennessean, we believe, and if he is a specimen of those who "teach the young idea how to shoot" we are ready to accept his statement as true as regards that State.

But how does this compare with the reputation of our State University, the pride of every North Carolinian's heart; Wake Forest College, with its enrollment of more than two hundred students each session; Davidson College, with its learned president and able faculty; Trinity College, with its modern and progressive Crowell; Bingham's School; Oak Ridge Institute; Guilford College; Davis School; Fremont Military Institute; Yadkin College; Judson College; State Agricultural and Mechanical College—with other male and female colleges dotting every section of the State?

Indeed, the answer is so plain that "he who runs may read." We regret that want of space forbids our giving the letter in full, for to us it plainly discloses the fact that the "Professor" is indirectly aiding and abetting in the passage of the infamous Blair bill, as well as having other evil objects in view.

He concludes with a "back-handed lick" at "Webster's Blue-back," which, by the way, is an institution within itself, and will be "living and prevailing," and doing good when the "Professor" and his Kindergarten ideas have long since been forgotten.

"Martha Washington" Party.

A merrier, better pleased party of men and women, boys and girls, is rarely found anywhere assembled than was gathered in the handsome parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association on Tuesday evening last. The decoration of flag, bunting, flower and evergreen was profuse and artistic, while portraits of Washington and other Revolutionary celebrities adorned the walls—the "Father of his Country" being accompanied by the faithful old hatchet with which he brought the favorite ox-heart cherry tree to grief.

Those in appropriate costume, reminiscent of the picturesque life of Colonial times and the days of our grandmothers—powdered tresses, quaint gowns, collars and ruffs—were: Miss Laura Thomson, Mrs. R. W. Bidgood (brocade silk and "Mischianza" head-dress), Miss Jennie Rose (Martha Washington), Mrs. Harley, Miss Kate Fairley (Madame Fairfax), Miss Maggie Utley, Miss Sallie Bidgood (Esther Wake—very piquant and charming), Miss Lizzie May Sedberry, Miss Annie Hunt Green (a radiant figure, which might have just stepped out of the framing of one of the matchless creations of Lely or Sir Joshua Reynolds), Miss Emmie Belle Williams, Miss Maggie Whitehead, Miss Julia Barclay (lovely Dolly Madison), Miss Mamie Bidgood, Miss Eliza Williams, Miss Etta Brown, Miss Lena Thomson. They were all exquisitely pretty and graceful, eliciting much admiration. Messrs. Jno. D. Williams, Jr. (2). Thos. Whitted, G. G. Harley, Leon Brandt and Edmund O'Hanlon were resplendent in lace, ruffles, pumps and silk stockings, handsomely representing different interesting characters.

Refreshments were served in abundance, and they, too, were old-fashioned—in price—so that the most exacting appetite was satisfied without an emptying of the pockets. The net proceeds were $53.75, and the Young Men's Christian Association tender heartfelt thanks to the "King's Daughters" for the delightful entertainment, with the highly satisfactory results.

The next thing on the tapis will be an ice-cream party, al fresco, in Eccles Park.

Cannot Fayetteville Have One?

We find, in the Greensboro papers, the proceedings of the Chamber of Commerce of that city very interesting reading. We had opportunities, during the year 1888 and part of the year 1889, of acquainting ourselves with its operations, and the beneficent results of its systematized efforts for the advancement of the material interests of the community can hardly be overestimated.

We would like much to see a Chamber of Commerce organized in Fayetteville. So far from conflicting, it would rather cooperate, with the Merchants' Exchange, having a larger scope and a broader field of usefulness than the latter. Its membership should include every avocation, trade and profession—for its comprehensive design is to enhance the value of real estate, judiciously and profitably employ capital, advertise to the world the manifold advantages for investment in the industries of the community, further manufacturing, etc., etc. Rightly organized and directed, the Chamber of Commerce would become the fruitful source of many excellent enterprises—the inspiration, as it were, of the establishment of enterprises utilizing capital, employing labor and redounding to the welfare of all classes.

Personal Pencilings.

Her many friends will be much pleased at the return of Mrs. Lineberry to the city.

Mrs. H. C. Dockery, of Rockingham, is paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. Drewry Smith.

Mr. T. A. Klutz, Fayetteville's architect, is enjoying Florida's genial and salubrious clime this week.

We are glad to see our esteemed friend, Mr. Jno. D. Williams, Jr., able to be out after three or four weeks of quite serious sickness.

Mr. Hurbert Lutterloh, now of Ashburn, Ga., is at home for a few days with his parents, and shaking hands with many warm friends. He looks well.

Mrs. W. B. Robeson, of Bladen, has been spending a week or two with her sister, Mrs. A. A. McKethan, Jr. Mr. Robeson is making a business trip to Georgia.

Mr. J. W. Cobb, of the Postal Telegraph and Commercial Cable Company, is making a trip North, Mr. Walker, of Raleigh, having charge of the office in his absence.

It gave us pleasure the other day to receive a short visit from the venerable Mr. W. T. Frizell, now 86 years of age. He has lost the sight of one eye, and is quite feeble, though still able to walk over town occasionally from home.

Mr. Andrew Broadfoot has returned from quite an extensive trip South and West. After enjoying the "Mardi Gras" at New Orleans, he journeyed out to Arizazon and other sections of that great and rapidly-developing country, of which he has much to tell very pleasantly and instructively.

TOURISTS,

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abram Hare, Druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at B. E. Sedberry's Drug Store.

SEE WHAT MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY WILL DO FOR NURSING MOTHERS AND FEMALE TROUBLES

HOPEWELL P. O., Mecklenburg Co., N. C., September 4, 1888.

MRS. JOE PERSON—Madam:—Four years ago I took a violent cold, which resulted in Quinsy, and after suffering almost death, got relieved; but alas! the disease was in my system, and finally culminated in a womb trouble which caused me great suffering that winter and spring. I could scarcely drag around, and was often so miserable I would pray to die. I begged my husband to let me try your Remedy. He bought me one box, and it has made a perfect cure of me. It has also cured me of Indigestion, and furthermore, after the birth of five of my children, I would nearly lose the use of my arms, and suffered untold agony with Rheumatism and Neuralgia. I have not been troubled with either with my last two children. I keep a bottle of the Remedy in the house all the time. My husband says it is better than a doctor. With all my other children I had great trouble with them during dentition. I can truthfully say, never did children cut teeth with so much ease and as little trouble as my last two have. Whenever I see any sign of their teething, I commence taking the Remedy. It keeps my stomach and bowels regular and in a healthy condition, and seems to have the same effect on theirs. It is certainly the best Tonic I ever tried. A few doses will brace me up and make me feel like a new person. Yes, publish any part of my letter that will help your cause in the least. I hate publicity, but if my experience with the Remedy will be the means of others trying it, I am willing for the public to know the good it has done me and mine. May God bless you! I am very truly,

MRS. ABNER ALEXANDER.

My Remedy is now put in plain, round, pint packing bottles, no name blown. The carton holding bottle is now printed altogether in black ink instead of black and red as heretofore; my signature on each label is now written with pen and ink, instead of lithographed as formerly. Every label and carton numbered, as in physicians' prescriptions. The Wash packages are printed altogether in black ink and numbered. Persons buying the Remedy should see that the new style is furnished them, as I cannot guarantee any other to be genuine.

MRS. JOE PERSON,
Kittrell, N. C.

Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night, and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Sedberry's Drug Store.

FACTS FOR THE SICK!

Letter From an Eminent Divine In Regard to the Best Medicine in the World. Read.

WONDERFUL CURES.

ATLANTA, GA., January 2, 1890.

Six months ago, at the request of a friend who was interested in the sale of King's Royal Germetuer, I made a written statement of the benefits I had received from the use of that medicine. In that statement I expressed the belief that it would cure me entirely of Catarrh. Within the last two months I have received letters from every quarter of the nation calling on me for further information in regard to my health. It has been impossible for me to write privately to each person who has made this request, and I am therefore under the necessity of making another public statement.

I am free from Catarrh. I believe that I could get a certificate to this effect from any competent physician. I have used no medicine within the last six months except King's Royal Germetuer. My health is better than it has been in thirty years. I am in possession of information which warrants me in saying that the relief which I have experienced from the use of the medicine is not more certain and radical than that which it has brought to hundreds of persons in Georgia and other States.

I feel it to be my duty to say, also, that the effects of this remedy upon my wife have been even more signal and wonderful. She has been almost a life-long invalid from Nervous Headache, Neuralgia and Rheumatism. In a period of thirty years she has scarcely had a day's exemption from pain. She has been using Germetuer about two months. A more complete transformation I have never witnessed. Every symptom of disease has disappeared. She appears to be twenty years younger, and is as happy and playful as a healthy child. We have persuaded many of our friends to take the medicine, and the testimony of all of them is that it is a great remedy.

J. B. HAWTHORNE,
Pastor First Baptist Church.

Royal Germetuer builds up from the first dose, the patient quickly feeling its invigorating and health-giving influence. It increases the appetite, aids digestion, clears the complexion, regulates the liver, kidneys, etc., and speedily brings bloom to the cheek, strength to the body and joy to the heart. For weak and debilitated females it is without a rival or a peer.

If you are suffering with disease and fail of a cure, send stamp for printed matter, certificates, etc.

For sale by the Atlantic Germetuer Company, 14 N. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga., and by druggists. Price reduced from $2.50 to $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. Can be sent by express C. O. D. if your druggist cannot supply you.

Counterfeiters Captured.

Three counterfeiters, Bryant Philips, Allen Phillips and George Burroughs, of Chatham, were captured near Harper's Cross Roads last week by a government detective.

To Be Refitted.

In pursuance of a resolution passed on Monday night last, the hall of Cross Creek Lodge, I. O. O. F., is to be overhauled, supplied with new carpets and furniture, and the walls calcimined.

Snow in Wilmington.

The reporter of the Wilmington Star tried manfully to write with a steady hand when describing the snow-fall there last Friday night, but he was evidently laboring under strong excitement when he announced that it was about an inch deep, and that the boys and girls were snow-balling! Next time we'll have you a lot sent down from Mt. Airy, so that you can make a better show.

A Sad Death.

Miss Sallie Robeson, an interesting girl, aged about 11 years, daughter of the late Dr. R. R. Robeson, of this county, died at the residence of Mrs. Sallie Purdie, near Tar Heel, on Sunday night last. She had been attending school in the neighborhood, and was taken with la grippe, which terminated fatally. Her remains were brought up last Tuesday by her uncles, Messrs. E. and W. Doug. Smith.

Will Increase from Day to Day.

We expect to have occasion hereafter, "continually constant," to publish gratifying items like the following, taken from the Wilmington Star of the 8th inst.:

The freight shed on the wharves of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway was yesterday piled with packages of goods for merchants in Winston, Greensboro and other points in the western part of the State, which came by steamer from New York.

Very Simple.

We seem to have puzzled the Latinists about here (as Mark Twain would call them) by the few words of that language we gave week before last, stating that their translation into English would give a line of a refrain very popular on the other side during the war. It is a nonsensical "catch" (not originating with us), but the translation is very simple:

Qui crudus enim lectus, albus et spirarit.
"Hurrah for the red, white and blue."

At the Hotel LaFayette.

We note, among the pleasure-travel strangers visiting Fayetteville, the following registered at the Hotel LaFayette during the past week:

New York—Alex. Smedes, E. A. Williams, L. C. Hurlburt, T. M. Chapin, J. D. Massemore.
Philadelphia—O. W. Wood and wife, J. W. Claghorn and wife, John Engle, Paul A. Dana, Jr.
Cincinnati—A. S. Custer, J. W. Stanley.
Cleveland—J. C. Pendleton.
London—Capt. Gardner.

New Enterprise.

The Citizens' Real Estate Agency, to be conducted on the same basis as the Fayetteville Real Estate Agency, is a new enterprise most likely to materialize in Fayetteville and by Fayetteville capital, at an early day. Our people are fast waking up to the great importance of thoroughly arousing themselves to keep abreast with the times, and are moving onward and upward with the progress of the age. Let all "keep step to the tune of Dixie," and sooner or later we will wake up to find ourselves and community on the highway to unending prosperity.

The Merchants' Excursion.

The committee having in charge the arrangements for the proper reception of guests at Wilmington, on the occasion of the Merchants' excursion over the line of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, have decided to have the banquet take place at the City Hall. The occasion will doubtless be very pleasant, and the up-country folks will find Wilmington a royal place to visit.

A telegram received by Capt. W. E. Kyle from Mr. J. H. Currie on Tuesday afternoon states that the excursion has been postponed to the 16th and 17th of April. This is better, as the weather will probably be more pleasant at that time.

Coal in Bladen.

We learn that indisputable evidences have been found, and brought to the notice of an expert mining engineer, of the existence of a stratum of coal situated at Prospect Hall, on the Cape Fear River, on land belonging to Mr. W. N. Whitted. Should the deposit prove considerable, its proximity to the port of Wilmington will render it exceedingly valuable.

Improvements.

Mr. G. D. Miller, of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R., is having a handsome and commodious two-storey residence built on Winslow street, adjoining the house which he now occupies.

Mr. B. R. Huske, of the well-known "Huske Hardware House," is constructing, on the lot contiguous to the residence of his father, Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske, a tasteful and comfortable dwelling. Mr. Huske is at present unmarried.

The Shirt and Drawers Factory.

The shirt and drawers factory, operated in this city by Messrs. John Roddick & Co., is one of the new industries of Fayetteville, and starts off well. A member of the firm told an OBSERVER reporter a few days since that they found no trouble in disposing of their goods, and the proprietors contemplate extending their business at an early day to even a more enlarged scale. Already it gives employment to several laborers, with fair compensation, and the OBSERVER hopes to see it grow and blossom into a mammoth industry.

A Good Word for the Hotel LaFayette.

Col. Jno. D. Cameron, editor of the Asheville Citizen, who recently spent a few days in Fayetteville, was evidently well cared for at Mr. Barker's excellent hostelry, judging from the following—probably post prandial—confidence with his paper:

The hotel at which I stop, the Hotel LaFayette, is really a fine building—handsome in architecture and admirable in its interior arrangements. There is little for display and very much for comfort, the office neat and somewhat elegant, the staircases broad and noble, the dining-room large and well-proportioned, and the chambers of ample size and handsomely furnished. I speak on only short experience, but, judging from the full tables, the Northern visitors must be well pleased.

Mail on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R.

The recent completion of the eastern extension of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway has necessitated a change in the mail service, and under instructions from the Department at Washington the postal routes are now as follows:

Mount Airy and Bennettsville railroad postoffice clerks change their runs so as to end at Wilmington; the service is increased in distance 24.36 miles, making the whole distance 249.42 miles—taking effect March 3rd. Additional service has been established on the line between Fayetteville and Bennettsville, a distance of 57.20 miles. This service was formerly performed by Mt. Airy and Bennettsville railroad postoffice clerks, whose duties have been changed as above noted.

Much Damage Done.

Tens of thousands of dollars' worth of fruits and early vegetables have been lost since the first cold wave of the night of the 1st inst. struck us. No section, so far as we can learn, has been spared, and the market-gardeners in the trucking districts have fared badly. The fruit belt is, if possible, worse off, the cold at Greensboro, Winston and other points being very severe, and information comes from the former place that the fruit is gone and vegetation blighted everywhere.

There is some compensation through it all, however. The rains and the snow have been very beneficial to the wheat and oats—staple crops, full harvests of which will more than offset the losses in fruit and vegetables.

A Great Forage Plant.

On the 4th page will be found an article copied from the New England Homestead, in which a correspondent gives that paper his experience with the Teosinte (Reana luxurians). He speaks very highly of its qualities as a forage crop, but, in our judgment, he says no more for it than it deserves. The writer grew it on a small scale on Haymount a few years since; and, though the seasons were not at all propitious, he was astonished at its rapid and exuberant growth. The seed were obtained from W. Atlee Burpee & Co., Philadelphia.

If we mistake not, Mr. J. S. Breece—one of the most advanced and successful farmers of Cumberland county—has devoted some time and attention to the cultivation of Teosinte, and we would like to know, for the benefit of our readers interested in matters agricultural, if his experience of the plant coincides with our own and that of others

Eccles Park.

This beautiful little pleasure-ground, situated almost in the heart of Fayetteville, is being greatly improved and embellished—ground leveled, lawns laid off and shrubbery planted—and when spring's adorning hand throws about it the drapery of foliage and flower our city will rejoice in a gem of a park.

On the same stream, and but a little farther east, nature has selected a stretch of wooded hill and leafy glade, where, as the seasons come and go, she lavishes her choicest gifts. It would be difficult to find anywhere a spot more admirably suited for a public park than the banks of Cross Creek just beyond the Old Cemetery. Little, comparatively, is required of art—the taste and skill of the landscape gardener exerted here and there—to deck the banks of the sinuous stream with cool arbors and blossoming bowers, set them off with parterre and hedge, and span the beautiful waters with the rustic bridge. We have heard those say who have examined the old creek-bed and channel closely that a little damming and engineering would restore the ancient crossing of the two streams, which gave its name to this historic spot.

Another New Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Grand Guardian W. D. Gaster, assisted by others, will institute a new lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at Wade in a few days.

Quick Time.

Mr. J. A. King, of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley freight department, gives us a memorandum of the speedy transmission of goods between New York and Fayetteville. A consignment to Mr. J. S. Dye came via the Seaboard Air-Line and Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway in a little less than 48 hours. That is seldom beaten.

New Machinery for the Bucket Factory.

Superintendent Denny, of the Bucket Factory, has returned from the North, whither he went to purchase additional machinery for the enlargement of the "plant" to more than double its present capacity. Work will begin on the new building in a few days, with the hope of having it completed by the time of the arrival of the machinery.

Now Supplied.

In response to our request for copies of the OBSERVER of December 12, 1889, many have been sent in to us, and we now have as many copies as we need. Our SOLE reason for advertising for this issue was that it contained the account of the memorial services of the late Jefferson Davis, and we found that we had not even a file copy.

Painful Accident.

On Monday last Capt. J. B. Smith rode up to the railway station, and, alighting, entered the train, leaving the horse standing. Something frightened him, and he dashed off, Capt. Smith running back and seizing the reins. He was dragged some distance, and received painful injuries, one or two ribs being broken. We are glad to know that Capt. Smith is getting better, though suffering much pain.

The Culprit Jailed.

Sheriff Fisher's officers arrested a negro boy, Frank Johnson, alias "Shiny," a day or two after the burning of Mr. George Haigh's house, against whom, it appears to us, there is a plain case.

There were found in his possession articles of jewelry, etc., which Mr. Haigh identifies as his property, and he confesses to having gone into two of the rooms on the night of the fire. He implicates some one else, concerning whom the officials are as yet reticent, but think that developments may be made in a day or two which will justify another arrest. The negro denies being guilty of the burning, but acknowledges that he saw it done.

Who Knows of Him?

A correspondent writing from Manchester yesterday says:

A suspicious man, about 25 years of age, rode into this place yesterday about 12 o'clock and called at my store; he sold his saddle, and bought feed for his horse and lunch for himself. He said he lived near Jonesboro, N. C., and was going to Fayetteville to sell his horse to Mr. F. W. Thornton. As soon as his horse was through eating, he started in the direction of Fayetteville, but did not go far before he took another road and went to the depot; when he arrived there the train was ready to start, whereupon he jumped off his horse, ran to the train and left on it. The horse is in my possession, and shows signs of having been rode hard, and was very near starved for feed and water. The horse has recently been sheared with a hair clipper. I think his original color was bay.

The Suburban Sportsmen.

The poor robin has been like the typical dove of Noah's Ark:—he has "found no rest for the sole of his foot" for the past thirty days. Driven by hunger from the holly and gall-berry thickets of the swamps, which his voracity has long since cleaned up, he no sooner settles to an unwonted feast of the China or hack-berry in the gardens about town—let it be as early as the dawn—than his murderous pursurers ruthlessly disturb his breakfast, lying in wait, and opening on him with every conceivable weapon from the breech-loader to the juvember. His incessant activity, and continual hurrying to and fro between the fusilades of first one group of boys and then another, would make the poor creature lean and poor if the lateness of the season had not already rendered him sorry game for the pot.

The Davis School.

Mr. Walter Watson's unflagging interest in all that pertains to the prosperity of Fayetteville has led him recently to take some steps looking to the possible removal of the Davis Military School from La Grange to this point, and to canvass the community with the view of ascertaining the sentiments of prominent citizens on the subject. He finds the idea favorably received, and no little substantial help promised in the event of the change of location.

The Davis school enjoys, if we mistake not, a very remunerative patronage from this town and tributary country; and we doubt not that, should Col. Davis find it expedient to make the change, Fayetteville's claims would carry due weight. Ample railroad facilities render the place as easy of access as any in the State, its healthfulness is unquestioned, and its social and religious advantages are inferior to none.

The old arsenal grounds—to which we have always pointed as admirably suited to the purposes of a large school or college—are now, we believe, mainly parceled out into building lots, but the environs of the place on all sides offer sites excellent in every respect. The establishment of such an institution here would be of benefit to us, and, as we are confident that the advantages would be reciprocal, we would be glad to see the matter take definite shape.

Mr. Crewes, of the Wilmington Messenger, came up on Tuesday. That excellent paper will soon have out its Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway edition.

Another Important Industry.

Maj. A. A. McKethan will shortly have in operation another bucket factory, fitting up the west buildings of his extensive carriage manufactory, which are capacious and well-located, and in every way well-fitted for utilization to this excellent purpose. Maj. McKethan is negotiating for the needed machinery, with which he will turn out buckets, churns, etc., juniper being used solely as material.

So far from this new enterprise militating against the success of the present established bucket factory, the two will be found mutually advantageous. The market is practically unlimited for their wares, and in this case it will be demonstrated that "competition is the life of trade." Situated in the heart of a fine timber country, the operations of the two companies will attract attention to this point, and the indications favor this as a manufacturing centre of different kinds of wooden-ware.

Fayetteville Real Estate Agency.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Fayetteville Real Estate Agency, held on Tuesday night, the question of opening books for the establishment of class "B" under the charter was discussed, and the matter was referred to a special committee, consisting of Dr. J. W. McNeill, Col. W. S. Cook and Mr. C. L. Taylor, with instructions to canvass the matter, and report to the Directors whenever, in their opinion, a sufficient number of subscribers have been secured to justify the establishment of this class.

The Fayetteville Real Estate Agency has been in existence long enough to show that it is not only a good dividend-paying institution but will accomplish much good in the community—to say nothing of the savings bank features. The establishment of class "B" would give those not already interested a chance to become stockholders; and it could have no better recommendation as an investment than the fact that many of class "A" intend to become members.

The Mirth-Makers.

That is very level-headed philosophy which says: "A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men" (and women)—and our Solons (and Sapphos) may count on two or three hours of a "jolly good time," if they will grace with their presence the performance of Fitzpatrick's Mirth-makers and Elite Comedy Company in Williams Hall to-morrow night. What? Because of "melancholy Jacques," is there to be no more "cakes and ale"—no more of Harlequin and Grimaldi, with their "quips and quirks?" Yea, verily. Up with the curtain, and ring in Comus and Yorick, with his "flashes of merriment that were wont to set the table in a roar."

In connection with the Mirth-makers are the Swiss Bell-ringers, who have an ante bellum reputation and history; but, like good wine, years but add to their mellow virtues, and "custom cannot stale their infinite variety." The company comes heralded by golden opinions from other cities, and will doubtless offer an entertainment which we can all thoroughly enjoy.

A Reminder of Old Times.

Yesterday morning—just as the porters were hurrying in the baggage, the express wagon was unloading packages, and the hacks and omnibus were clattering up with passengers, at the Wilson Short-Cut R. R. depot, where the engine was puffing and snorting in a grumbling sort of way, as if it intended to go anyhow, if they didn't quit fooling around, and get on—a long line of the old-time covered-top country-wagons filed around from Hillsboro street, and deployed into Hay—just on the very spot (upper Hay street) where 35 and 40 years ago they used to mass themselves by the dozens, and scores, and hundreds. They were from Moore and Chatham, and the Graded School children (bright "new issue" they), who had never seen such a sight, clapped their hands and gazed in admiration as at John Robinson's Circus, while here and there an old gray-beard shook his head and sighed: "Ah, me, the good old times!"

"Our fathers—where are they?
And the prophets—do they live forever?"

As the caravan moved onward toward the Market the safety gates of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway were shut down in their path, and the wagoners stood to see a train of coal cars, modern coaches and beef-refrigerator boxes, furnished with air-breaks, pass on west. The old days and the new! The very "irony of fate!"

Destructive Fire in Greensboro.

We are sorry to learn from the following, sent out by telegraph Monday morning, that our neighbor, Greensboro, has been losing some valuable brick and mortar by fire. The burned block was a handsome one, and the owner, Dr. D. W. C. Benbow, has our sympathy. In common with all Greensboro, we would have shouted "Hallelujah!" if his block (?) on the opposite side of the street had "become a prey to the devouring element:"

A very destructive fire occurred at this place about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the brick block situated on the corner of South Elm and West Sycamore streets. The building was a two-story ground floor, occupied by John O'Connor's grocery, and also the store adjoining, used for storage by him. The second floor was occupied by the extensive job printing and binding establishment of Thomas Bros. The whole establishment nearly was an entire loss. The fire originated in a brick addition at rear which had once been a steam laundry. The cause was accidental. Soon the flames were communicated to a windmill tower in the rear, through which the flames shot like a blast furnace. The fire engine was early on the scene and did effective work. The losses were as follows: Thomas Bros., on printing office, $6,000 to $7,000, insured in the Commercial Union for $3,000; John O'Connor, valued at $4,000, insured in the Providence of Washington for $1,000, stock badly damaged; Pretzfelder, dry goods damaged by smoke $1,000; loss on the building, owned by Dr. D. W. C. Benbow, $6,000.

School Teachers Take Notice.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of Cumberland County, held in the office of Mr. H. McD. Robinson, County Superintendent, last Monday, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the County Superintendent of Public Instruction be requested to obtain from all the public school teachers in Cumberland County within the next sixty days a statement in writing of the names of all school books used in the public schools within the last twelve months, and especially what State and United States Histories have been and are being used.

Resolved further, That said County Superintendent be and is hereby requested not to countersign the voucher of any teacher refusing to comply with this request.

This is a step in the right direction, and let us hope that it is the first step in the direction of suppressing that miserably conceived and ill-written "First Steps in North Carolina History," every copy of which should be speedily consigned to the flames.

ELKINS—On the 9th inst., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Elkins. Christ said, "Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for of such is the kingdom of heaven." "Methinks I see a thousand charms
Spread o'er the lovely face,
While infants in Thy tender arms
Receive the smiling grace."

SHERIFF'S SALE.

VALUABLE TOWN PROPERTY.

On Monday the 7th day of April, 1890, I will sell at the Court House door in the Town of Fayetteville, N. C., to the highest bidder for cash, a tract of land in Cumberland County containing about 28x253 feet, and bounded and described as follows: The same being about one-half of the lot and buildings in Fayetteville, N. C., now occupied as a dwelling by A. G. Thornton and including an equal part—about one-half—of said lot and building, used as a dwelling by the said A. G. Thornton, with the front entrance thereto. The land to be sold is 28 feet front on Lamon street, running with the same from the "Old State Arsenal" lot eastwardly with said street, thence through and including one half of the dwelling and land, about 253 feet to the back line of A. G. Thornton's lot, so as to include the N W. half of said lot and dwelling, the same being the excess over the homestead of A. G. Thornton, as found by the appraisers, and as appears by their return, now on file, which may be seen at my office, to satisfy certain executions in my hands for collection against A. G. Thornton, in favor of C. P Venstory and H. I. McDuffie, Agent, and which have been levied on said land as the property of said A. G. Thornton.

MOTHER.

In all the world—go where you will—
You'll never find another
Who'll stick to you through good or ill,
And love you like a—mother.

In all the world—where e'er you roam—
With sister, wife or brother,
You'll never know so sweet a home
As that one made by—mother.

In all the world—though wealth commands
For you the work of others—
You'll never find a pair of hands
To toil for you like—mother's.

In all the world—although you should
In riches nearly smother—
You'll taste no cooking half so good
As that prepared by—mother.

In all the world—though friends sincere
Are more to you than brothers—
You'll never for a moment hear
A voice so kind as—mother's.

In all the world—although you break
The tender hearts of others,
There is no heart can ever ache
For you as much as—mother's.

In all the world—though you create
A pleasure for another,
You can give none a joy so great
As you can give to—mother.

In all the world—although a wife
May you in goodness smother,
There's none who'll sacrifice a life
For you as quick as—mother.

In all the world—where you in bliss
May soon forget another,
There is no one whom you will miss,
When she is gone, like—mother.

The New Fodder Plant.

W. A. Brown in N. E. Homestead.)

The fodder plant, Teosinte, (Reana luxurians) having been spoken of so highly by different seedmen offering it for sale, I sent and bought a package of the seed to experiment with, having an earnest desire to raise the best fodder crop in New England. It was said to grow 12 feet high, that one plant would be sufficient to feed a pair of cattle for 24 hours, and that as many as 85 stalks have been grown from one seed. I planted it on May 6, and it came up in the time of field corn, and grew rapidly until the middle of June, exceeding the growth of field or evergreen corn, or any ensilage plant I have ever used. It was hoed three times. At this time the heat and drouth came on, its growth was checked, and its dark green color was changed to that of yellow, and it stood some three weeks at 45 inches high. When the rain came in July, its dark green hue returned, and it grew again as rapidly as before, until it was 10 or 12 feet high. It stools out or tillers, and a large number of stalks grow from the individual seed. I planted it in drills four feet apart, the seeds placed 10 inches apart. Cows devour it with avidity, and leave nothing. I believe the plant is going ahead of any fodder crop that has ever been grown in the New England States, and it is excellent for feed in all stages of its growth. One valuable characteristic which it possesses surpasses corn: it makes a large second growth in a few weeks after being cut. The richer the land the greater the abundance of the green fodder. Mine was planted on a medium rich and dry soil, sloping towards the west. I cannot give any results with it in making butter or milk, as I did not test it in these ways.

Model Farmers.

Nearly every section has what might properly be styled a few model farmers. At least they are such, comparatively speaking. Their farms, their barns, their houses and surroundings are far above the average in every respect. These farmers show a degree of thrift and frugality, too, that is above the average. They are on time with their work, they get the top prices for their produce, they live better and nicer than their neighbors, and generally are respected more and held in higher esteem than any other set of men in their community. They are held up as examples for young men just starting out in life, and, as the title implies, are good models to pattern after. If asked for a reason why some men are leaders in their line of business it would not be hard to give. First, they study their business. They go into the details and master them thoroughly. They work their brains as well as their hands. They systematize and economize. They take time to read and post themselves, and in this way get the advantage of others' experience. They keep up with the times in every way by doing their duty in the way that common sense and good judgment dictate. They clearly earn the title of model farmers, and should enjoy the respect that such title commands.

Cause of Colic.

"Colic in our horses," says an English veterinarian, "is generally the result of careless or improper feeding. The stomach of the horse is small and the digestion is limited, and if the horse is hungry and over-fed, or is allowed to gulp down a big feed, colic is the result; and if musty hay or musty or sour feed is used, or if fresh cut grass, wet with dew or rain, is hastily eaten in large quantities, colic is often the result. The careful, thoughtful man who feeds his horse regularly rarely has the colic to contend with. More frequent feeding of small feeds is better than too much feeding at once. See the skillful horseman on the ship with his horses tied up without exercise. He cuts down the feed to keep the horses with keen appetite. A very little over-feeding produces colic." Too much cold water when the horse is heated and tired is a fruitful source of colic, as is also too much green food, which, from its succulent nature, is liable to undergo fermentation. The remedy is the same as in man. Quickly give something to relieve the pain—pain-killer or some special colic cure; keep the animal quiet and warm, and if relief is not soon had get the veterinarian.

Good Character.

What we call the sterner virtues cannot alone make a good character. The man of integrity, if he be cold, hard or unamiable, is far from moral beauty. He who prides himself on being righteous, and forgets to be kind, is not truly righteous. We cannot analyze character, and parcel out some parts of it to constitute moral goodness, and others to form moral beauty. Each is wrapped up in the other, and only together can they maintain a healthy life.

Only His Sister.

Big Boy—Well, that beats me, to see that fellow spooning 'round that girl! And they say he's proposed, and is crazy to marry her.

Stranger—Nothing strange about that. She's a fascinating, beautiful young lady.

Big Boy—She! She fascinating and beautiful! Why, she's my sister!

The World Moves!
Get Up and Ride!!
When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.
It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.
CASH
We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.
Recollect that we sell you
Meal and Feed
AT THE ACTUAL COST
of the unground material.
We also hold that to endeavor to do a
Hand to Hand Cash Trnasaction with every purchase is not only impracticable but also unbusiness-like, and we wish it distinctly understood that accounts with parties of a known place of business, that are always promptly paid on presentation without any foolishness, is in our opinion cash.
